DUCA extending table: metal frame and top available in several materials and finishes.

The DUCA table includes an extension system with guides mounted on the frame: by pulling out the frame, the two legs slide to one side allowing the extension leaf, mounted on metal guides, to lift, twist into position and line up with the top with a simple movement. Legs always remain at the corners of the table offering maximum comfort to all guests.

Discover all the available combinations: laminate, melamine-faced, toughened glass, ceramic or FENIX NTM® tops come in different sizes and can be matched to the frame metal finishes: a multitude of combinations to fit in with any setting!
